

Workshop on Nonlinear Analysis and Control Theory in Honor of Professor Enrique Zuazua for his 60th birthday

November 3–5, 2021 – Virtual Format

---

Some inverse problems in heart valve identification

Axel Osses*
CMM-DIM FCFM
Universidad de Chile
Santiago, Chile

Abstract

We present an obstacle inverse problem in fluids. We analyze it from the point of view of recovering the boundary obstacle from velocity measurements and unknown pressure. First we show how to approximate the geometrical inverse problem with an equivalent resistance parameter and then we establish some logarithmic stability results using global Carleman inequalities. We include some numerical experiments that illustrates the feasibility of the resistance equivalence algorithm.

Joint work with:

Cristobal Bertoglio<sup>1</sup>, Bernoulli Institute, University of Groningen, The Netherlands.

Jorge Aguayo<sup>2</sup>, CMM-DIM, PhD student, Universidad de Chile, Santiago, Chile.

Hugo Carrillo<sup>3</sup>, INRIA-Chile, Post-doctoral researcher, Santiago, Chile.

---

*e-mail: axosses@dim.uchile.cl

<sup>1</sup>e-mail: xx@xxx.xxx

<sup>2</sup>e-mail: xx@xxx.xxx

<sup>3</sup>e-mail: xx@xxx.xxx